

From everything that I have read and/or heard about the proposed changes concerning ownership of media outlets, I see this move as a very dangerous one to the very foundation of democracy in our nation. Diversity of opinion and debate is the very fabric for which this nation was founded upon. Allowing even the slightest possibility of erosion of this can only lead to trouble. We have already seen the results of this deterioration in the fact that one company owns so many of the radio broadcast stations. Please have the foresight to keep as much competition as possible in the realm of all form of the media.

Only recently did the Federal Government litigate Microsoft for a possible monopoly in the computer technology realm. So how can the same government (through FCC refulating) be leaning towards allowing monopoly in the media field?
